

ABSTRACT

Anti-wrinkle cosmetic product, to be applied on skin with wrinkles and bags to stretch and to make it smooth. Product comprising a composition formed by at least a tensor agent including a first component silica and a second component water, both acting as active principle, and also formed by or more excipients of the kinds commonly used in cosmetic industry.